Goid Morning Gary,

We'll fix the ID error. Yes, any sample with DL followed by cardinal directions in the sample ID are dripline. Samples with FL followed by directions are fence line.

I am assuming that the grid number on the house is for the drip line sample or the sample within the shed on the industrial property. Is that correct?

Also, I noticed that on the data that there is one of the sample ids that is listed as FDJ rather than FJD which keeps the data from collating properly but I did not want to change it.

Thanks

Gary,

Attached is the most up to date map. I noticed an error in the FJD03 property grids that have now been corrected.

Thanks,
